Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements of G-SHANK ENTERPRISE CO., LTD. and SUBSIDIARIES

(Continuing)

(Review only without following generally accepted auditing standards)

(Unit amount in NT$ Thousand, unless otherwise specified)

As of June 30, 2023, the investment and shareholding ratios of the company and its subsidiaries are as follows:

(3) Principles for the preparation of consolidated financial report

(A) The consolidated financial report is prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards No. 10 “Consolidated Financial Statements.” The assets and liabilities, equity, income, expenses and losses, and cash flows related to the transactions between business entities of the Group were written-off at the time of preparing the consolidated financial report; also, similar transactions and events under similar circumstances were handled in accordance with the uniform accounting policies. The consolidated financial report included income and expenses of the subsidiary incurred from the date the control was obtained to the date the control terminated. The comprehensive profit and loss are attributable to the shareholders’ equity and non-controlling interests of the company, even if it causes losses to the non-controlling interests eventually.

(B) Transactions between shareholders of the company and non-controlling interests

(a) Without resulting in “loss of control”

It is handled as an equity transaction. The difference between the fair value of any consideration paid for the purchase of non-controlling interests and the net book value of the relevant assets acquired from the subsidiary is recognized as equity and is attributable to the shareholders of the company. The profit or loss from the disposal of non-controlling interests is also recognized in equity.

(b) Resulting in “loss of control”

If a change in the ownership of the subsidiary’s equity results in the loss of control, the assets, liabilities, non-controlling interests, and all other equity constituents related to the former subsidiary are delisted on the date of loss of control; also, the difference among the said delisted amount and the fair value of the considerations collected, the share distribution for the equity transaction conducted with the former subsidiary, and the fair value of any retained investment are recognized in profit and loss. In addition, any remaining investment in the former subsidiary is measured at the fair value on the date of “loss of control,” and it is regarded as the fair value of the originally recognized financial asset, or as the cost of the original investment in an affiliated enterprise or a joint venture.

(4) Financial instruments

- (A) When acting as a party to a financial instrument contract, it shall be recognized as a financial asset or financial liability in the balance sheet, and in conventional trading of financial assets, if it is an equity instrument, trade date accounting shall be adopted; if it is a debt instrument, beneficiary certificate, or derivative instrument, settlement date accounting shall be adopted.
- (B) When originally recognizing financial assets or financial liabilities, they shall be measured at fair value, but if they are not measured at fair value through profit or loss, transaction costs incurred shall be added or deducted.
- (C) When the financial instruments issued by the Group are initially recognized, they shall be classified as financial liabilities, financial assets, or equity instruments based on the substance of the contractual agreement and the definitions of financial liabilities, financial assets, and equity instruments.
- (D) Financial assets and financial liabilities shall be offset only when the Group has legally enforceable rights and intends to settle on a net basis or to simultaneously realize the assets and settle the liabilities, and shall be presented on the balance sheet on a net basis.
- (E) The financial instruments of this Group are as follows:

(a) Financial assets measured at fair value through profit or loss

Financial assets measured at fair value through profit or loss include assets classified as held for trading or designated as such. Assets classified as held for trading at fair value through profit or loss include equity investments not designated as fair value through other comprehensive income, as well as debt investments not classified as measured at amortized cost or fair value through other comprehensive income. Financial assets measured at fair value through profit or loss are measured at fair value, and any resulting gains or losses are recognized in the income statement.

(b) Financial assets measured at amortized cost

Refers to assets that meet both of the following conditions and are not designated as measured at fair value through profit or loss. They are measured at amortized cost and include items reported on the balance sheet such as cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, other financial assets, and other receivables:

(Continuing)

(Review only without following generally accepted auditing standards)

(Unit amount in NT$ Thousand, unless otherwise specified)

- i. The financial asset is held within a business model whose objective is to hold assets to collect contractual cash flows.
- ii. The contractual terms of the financial asset give rise to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the outstanding principal amount.

Financial assets measured at amortized cost are initially recognized at fair value and subsequently measured at amortized cost less any impairment losses. Any gains or losses arising from derecognition, through amortization, or recognition of impairment losses are recognized in profit or loss.

(c) Financial assets measured at fair value through other comprehensive income

Refers to assets that meet both of the following conditions and are not designated as financial assets measured at fair value through profit or loss; or for which an irrevocable choice was made at initial recognition to present changes in fair value in other comprehensive income for equity instruments that are not held for trading:

- i. The financial asset is held within a business model whose objective is to both collect contractual cash flows and sell the financial assets.
- ii. The contractual terms of the financial asset give rise to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the outstanding principal amount.

Subsequently measured at fair value, changes in value are recognized in other comprehensive income, except for impairment losses on debt instruments, foreign exchange gains and losses on monetary financial assets, and interest calculated using the effective interest method. Dividends received on equity instruments that represent a recovery of part of the initial investment cost are also recognized in other comprehensive income, except for when they are derecognized or reclassified. Any previously recognized cumulative gains or losses in other comprehensive income are reclassified to profit or loss for debt instruments, while equity instruments are reclassified to retained earnings. Dividends on equity instruments are recognized when the right to receive them is established.

(d) Financial liabilities measured at amortized cost

Financial liabilities that are not measured at fair value through profit or loss are measured at amortized cost. This category includes short-term borrowings, accounts payable, other payables, long-term borrowings, and lease liabilities. These financial liabilities are measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method. However, short-term payables that are interest-free and do not have a significant impact from discounting are measured at the original transaction amount.

(e) Hybrid financial instruments

- i. The hybrid financial instruments issued by the Company allow holders the option to convert into common shares of the company, with the number of issued shares not varying based on their fair value.
- ii. The liability component of the hybrid financial instruments is initially recognized at fair value, excluding any equity conversion feature; the equity component is initially recognized as the difference between the overall fair value of the hybrid financial instrument and the fair value of the liability component. After initial recognition, the liability component not involving derivative financial instruments is measured using the effective interest method at amortized cost until conversion or redemption, while the liability component involving derivative financial instruments is subsequently measured at fair value through profit or loss; the equity component is no longer revalued after issuance.
- iii. The issuance costs of convertible bonds are allocated between the liability and equity components based on their initial carrying amounts.
- iv. Any interest, losses, or gains related to the financial liability component are recognized in profit or loss. Financial liabilities do not generate gains or losses upon conversion and are reclassified to equity.

(f) Non-hedging derivative instruments and embedded derivative instruments

Non-hedging derivative instruments are initially recognized at fair value upon contract inception, and subsequently remeasured at fair value on the balance sheet date. Any resulting gains or losses from subsequent remeasurements are directly recognized in profit or loss. However, for designated and effective hedging instruments, the timing of recognition in profit or loss depends on the nature of the hedging relationship. When the fair value of a derivative instrument is positive, it is classified as a financial asset; when the fair value is negative, it is classified as a financial liability. If a derivative instrument is embedded in a host contract that qualifies as a financial asset under International Financial Reporting Standard 9 (IFRS 9), the classification of the financial asset is determined based on the terms of the overall hybrid contract. If the embedded derivative instrument is not part of a financial asset under IFRS 9, the embedded derivative instrument should be assessed for whether it is closely related to the host contract. If not closely related, the embedded derivative instrument should be separated and accounted for as a derivative instrument, unless the overall hybrid contract is measured at fair value through profit or loss.

(5) Employee benefits - retirement benefits

- (A) All full-time employees of the company are entitled to the retirement plan. The entire employee pension fund is deposited in the pension fund account and managed by the Labor Retirement Reserve Committee. The aforementioned pension fund is deposited in the name of the Labor Retirement Reserve Committee that is completely separated from the company; therefore, it is not included in the aforementioned consolidated financial report. The retirement plan for employees of foreign subsidiaries is handled in accordance with local law and regulations.
- (B) For a defined contribution plan, the company's monthly employee pension contribution rate shall not be less than 6% of the employee's monthly salary, and the contributed amount is recognized as the current expense. Foreign subsidiaries are to appropriate a certain percentage of the salary as pension according to the local law; also, it is recognized as a current expense.
- (C) For a defined benefit plan, the actuarial pension amount should be appropriated on the annual reporting date according to the Projected Unit Credit Method. The re-measured amount is included in other comprehensive profits and losses when it occurs; also, it is immediately recognized in the retained earnings. The pension cost in the interim period is calculated according to the pension cost rate actuarially calculated at the end of the previous year for the period from the beginning to the end of the year; also, the major market fluctuations, major reductions, settlements, or other significant non-reoccurring events after the end of the year should be adjusted and disclosed accordingly.

(6) Income tax

- (A) Income tax expenses include current and deferred income taxes. Except for those related to business mergers, directly recognized in equity, or other comprehensive profit and loss, current income tax and deferred income tax expenses are recognized in profit and loss.
- (B) Current income tax expenses refer to the estimated income tax payable or tax refund receivable calculated on the taxable income or loss of the current year at the tax rate that has been legislated or substantively legislated on the reporting date, including any adjustment made to the income tax payable or refundable of the previous year.
- (C) Deferred income tax expenses are calculated and recognized on the temporary difference between the tax base of assets and liabilities and the book amounts reported.
- (D) Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rate applicable when the temporary difference is expected to reverse that has been legislated or substantively legislated on the reporting date. Deferred income tax assets and liabilities can only be applied to offset current income tax assets and liabilities lawfully; also, it is limited to the same taxpayer and the same levying tax authority; or it can be offset by different taxpayers when the intention is to have the net current income tax liabilities and assets offset, or the income tax liabilities and assets will be realized at the same time.
- (E) The outstanding taxable losses, income tax credit, and deductible temporary differences are recognized as deferred income tax assets to the extent of the potential taxable income that occurred in the future. Also, the deferred income tax assets are evaluated on each reporting day and adjusted down to the extent of the relevant tax benefit unlikely to be realized.
- (F) For the domestic subsidiaries of the Group, for the additionally levied business income tax on the unappropriated earnings of the year, the income tax expense of the unappropriated earnings is recognized according to the actual earnings distribution that is resolved in the shareholders meeting of the following year.
- (G) The income tax expense of the interim reporting period is measured according to the best estimated annual effective tax rate by the management, that is, apply the estimated annual average effective tax rate to the net income before tax in the interim reporting period. For any change in the legislated tax rate that occurred in the interim reporting period, the relevant income tax effect is recognized in a lump sum during the said interim reporting period.

The stock option duration is the employee exercising stock option period that is deducted from the historical data and current expectation, which may not necessarily match the actual result or actual implementation.

The exchange profit and loss (including realized and unrealized) of the Group's monetary items converted to functional currencies, and the exchange rate for the conversion to the reporting currency of the consolidated financial report are as follows:

(02) In addition, the SWAP contracts held by the Group are a financial hedging operation intended to hedge exchange rate risk arising from the change (mainly including sales and purchases denominated in non-functional currencies, such as USD) in the exchange rate of foreign claims. Regarding the aforementioned SWAP contracts, the profit and loss arising from changes in the exchange rate will generally offset the profit and loss of the hedged project, so there is no significant market risk. As for the aforementioned hedged project, the net position of foreign currency claims that are not effectively hedged is linked to the market risk of changes in exchange rates, of which, the depreciation or appreciation of USD, RMB, MYR, or JPY will result in the risk of exchange profit or loss.

(ii) Interest rate risk

The Group's interest rate risks include the fair value interest rate risk of the financial instruments with fixed interest rate and the cash flow interest rate risk of financial instruments with floating interest rate. The financial instruments with fixed interest rate refer to the company's time deposits, some financial assets-current measured at fair value through profit and loss, financial assets measured at amortized cost, some other financial assets-current and some bank loans; the financial instruments with floating rate refer to savings deposits, some other financial assets-current, some other noncurrent assets-others, and some bank loans. The Group has interest rate risk evaluated and analyzed on a dynamic basis and controlled the interest rate risk exposure by maintaining an appropriate combination of fixed and floating interest rates. The Group expects no significant interest rate risk.

(01) The Group's financial assets and liabilities with fixed and floating interest rates

(02) Sensitivity Analysis

For the Group's financial assets and liabilities with a floating interest rate, if the interest rate of market deposits or loans increased by 0.5% on the reporting date, assuming that it is held for an accounting quarter and all other factors are given, it would cause the Group's net income (loss) before tax increased by $6,616 thousand and NT$3,211 thousand for the six-month periods ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively.

(Continuing)

(Review only without following generally accepted auditing standards)

(Unit amount in NT$ Thousand, unless otherwise specified)

The embedded derivative financial instruments arising from the convertible corporate bonds in the fixed-rate financial liabilities engaged by the Group will expose it to fair value interest rate risk. Assuming a 0.1% increase or decrease in the risk-free interest rate as of the reporting date, and all other risk variables remain unchanged, there will be no impact on the Group's pre-tax net profit for the first half of 2024.

(iii) Other price risks

The Group's beneficiary certificates and equity securities, such as financial assets measured at fair value through profit and loss and financial assets measured at fair value through other comprehensive profit and loss, are with price risk resulted. The Group manages the price risk of beneficiary certificates and equity securities by holding investment portfolios with different risks.

Sensitivity Analysis

For the Group's financial assets measured at fair value through profit and loss and financial assets measured at fair value through other comprehensive profit and loss, the impact of the beneficiary certificates and equity securities with a 5% price increase on the net income before tax or equity on the reporting date is as follows; also, the beneficiary certificates and equity securities with a 5% price decrease will affect the net income before tax or equity reversely:

	June 30, 2024	December 31, 2023	June 30, 2023
Increase in net income before tax
Financial assets measured at fair value through profit and loss	$93,371	$72,332	$46,624
Increase in equity
Financial assets measured at fair value through other comprehensive profit and loss	$18,730	$16,045	$13,047

The embedded derivative financial instruments arising from the convertible bonds issued by the group will be subject to price risk due to changes in the company's stock price. If the group's stock price increases or decreases by 10% on the reporting date, assuming other risk variables remain constant, it will result in an increase of NT$1,047 thousand or a decrease of NT$857 thousand in the group's pre-tax net profit for the second quarter of 2024.

(b) Credit risk

- (i) The Group's credit risk is mainly the potential impact of the counterparty or other parties' failure in performing financial assets contracts, which includes the concentration of credit risks, constituents, contract amounts, and other receivables of the financial assets transactions of the Group. In order to reduce credit risk, the Group has dealt with all well-known domestic and foreign financial or securities institutions for bank deposits, financial assets measured at fair value through profit and loss, financial assets measured at amortized cost, some other financial assets, which are with low credit risk. For receivables, the Group continues to evaluate the financial status of the counterparties, historical experience, and other factors to adjust the trade amount and trade method of individual customers appropriately in order to improve the Group's credit-granting quality.
- (ii) The Group evaluates and analyzes the overdue or impairment of financial assets on the balance sheet date. The Group's credit risk exposure amount is as follows:

	June 30, 2024	December 31, 2023	June 30, 2023
Credit risk exposure amount
Allowance for losses-measured by the expected credit losses amount for 12-month	$-	$-	$-
Allowance loss-measured by the expected credit loss amount throughout the duration - Accounts receivable	27,373	25,871	29,845
Total	$27,373	$25,871	$29,845

The aforementioned credit risk exposure amounts are all from the recovery of accounts receivable. The Group has continuously evaluated the losses that affect the estimated future cash flow of accounts receivable with appropriate allowance accounts appropriated. Therefore, the book amount of accounts receivable is with credit risk properly considered and reflected. In addition, the Group does not hold collateral for the impairment of financial assets that is with an allowance account appropriated.

(c) Liquidity risk

The Group manages and maintains sufficient cash and cash equivalents to support all contractual obligations for business operations and to minimize the impact of cash flow fluctuations. Bank loans are an important source of liquidity to the Group. The management ensures the repeating bank loans through capital structure management, monitoring the use of bank credit line, and complying with loan contract terms to reduce liquidity risk. The Group's stock investment under the financial assets measured at fair value through other comprehensive profit and loss is exposed to liquidity risk due to lack of an active market. In addition, the exchange rate of the Group's SWAP contract has been determined; therefore, there is no significant cash flow risk.

Derivative financial liabilities: None(D) Fair value of financial instruments

The book amount of the Group's financial instruments is an amount reasonably close to the fair value.

	June 30, 2024
	Carrying amount	Fair value
Bonds payable	$907,472	$903,543

(a) The methods adopted for the fair value of financial instruments and the assumptions adopted for the use of evaluation techniques

- (i) The fair value of short-term financial instruments is estimated according to the book value on the balance sheet. Such financial instruments are with a short maturity date; also, the present value of future cash flows discounted at the market interest rate is close to the book amount; therefore, the book amount should be a reasonable basis for estimating the fair value. This method is applied to cash and cash equivalents, net notes receivable, net accounts receivable (including related parties), other receivables (including related parties), short-term loans, accounts payable (including related parties), and other payables (including related parties).
- (ii) Financial assets measured at fair value through profit and loss are those with active market quotations, and therefore, the fair value is determined based on the market price. For foreign bonds, the fair value is determined based on the quotations on the reporting date through Bloomberg, Reuters or other brokers and trading platforms; if it is an embedded derivative financial instrument, its fair value is assessed using a binomial tree convertible bond pricing model.
- (iii) Financial assets measured at fair value through other comprehensive profit and loss are equity instrument investments without market price available for reference; therefore, the fair value is estimated according to the Market Approach. The company has the fair value estimated according to the prices derived from the market transactions of the same or comparable equity instruments and other relevant information.
- (iv) The fair value of other financial assets and other noncurrent assets-restricted assets is estimated according to the book amount, since the present value of future cash collected and discounted at the market interest rate is close to the book amount; therefore, the book amount should be a reasonable basis for estimating the fair value.
- (v) The evaluation of derivative financial instruments is based on the evaluation models that are widely accepted in the market, such as, discount method and option pricing model.

(Continuing)

(Review only without following generally accepted auditing standards)

(Unit amount in NT$ Thousand, unless otherwise specified)

- (vi) Lease liabilities are discounted at the Group's increment loan interest rate on the unpaid lease expense on the lease starting day and then measured at amortized cost of the effective interest method subsequently. The book amount of the lease liabilities is an amount reasonably close to the fair value.
- (vii) The Group's long-term loans are based on floating interest rates with the fair value estimated according to the book amount on the balance sheet, which has been adjusted with reference to market conditions. Therefore, the company's loan interest rate is close to the market interest rate.
- (viii) The fair value of payable corporate bonds is estimated by discounting their cash flows using the market interest rate for corporate bonds with similar terms.

(b) Classification of fair value measurement

All assets and liabilities measured or disclosed at the fair value are classified to the respective fair value level according to the lowest level input value critical to the overall fair value measurement. The input values for each level are as follows:

Level 1: The market price (unadjusted) available for the same asset or liability on the measurement date;

Level 2: Direct or indirect observable input values of assets or liabilities, except for those quotations in Level 1;

Level 3: Unobservable input value of assets or liabilities;

The assets and liabilities that were originally measured at fair value on a repetitive basis and recognized on the balance sheet should be reassessed for classification at the end of each reporting period to determine whether there is a swift between the levels of the fair value hierarchy.

(i) The classification of financial instruments measured at fair value and recognized in the balance sheet

The Group does not have assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a non-repetitive basis. The fair value level of assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a repetitive basis is as follows:

In the first half of 2024 and 2023, the Group recognized fair value changes of level 3 financial assets in other comprehensive income for the current period in the amounts of NT$53,690 thousand and NT$(1,090) thousand, respectively, which were presented under other comprehensive income - unrealized gains on equity instruments measured at fair value through other comprehensive income.

- (iv) The evaluation techniques and assumptions adopted to measure the fair value of financial assets.
- (01) The fair value of financial assets with standard terms and conditions that are traded in an active market is determined by referring to market price.
- (02) The foreign bonds are determined by quotations on the reporting date through Bloomberg, Reuters or other brokers and trading platforms.
- (03) The exchange transaction contracts are based on the discounted cash flow methods. Future cash flows are estimated at the forward exchange rate observable on the reporting date and the exchange rate set in the contract, and discounted at a discount rate that can reflect the credit risk of each counterparty.
